

World Games IMG

“Memorial Carlo Henke (1937/2010)”

Carrara, 2-3 November 2019

Our “World Games” for Club – which someone has tried to sabotage in 2018 for the edition in Tarvisio – it is one initiative of our monthly magazine, “Samurai” (born on 1976) this year will be held under the wing of the IMG 2019, International Martial Arts Games.

It is a multi-federal initiative which spirit is that to give the chance to our club/dojo of the Field of the national karate to face with international students without spending a lot of money in travelling.

In particular the “World Games” is the example of an overture to every form of association, both federal sport promotion association and more.

Our magazine “Samurai” is re-proposing the competition which made so prestigious our “Pasqua del budo” with the 15° World Games per club in Carrara (2-3 November 2019) and the international Cup Memorial Carlo Henke (1937/2010)

One “memorial” dedicated to the master/person, Carlo Henke who has given a new dimension to the world of the martial arts: “working together with humility and dedication” at the international and national karate.

GRAND CHAMPION “Memorial Carlo Henke”

At the end of the Kata individual competition (Saturday 2 November) and of the individual kumite Shobu Sanbon / Kumite Shobu Ippon (Sunday 3 November), there will be the competition named "Grand Champion" to crown the best champion in both specialities.

Are admitted in this competition, the top two classified in kata (black belt every style) and in Kumite Sanbon (every weight) Juniores and Seniores, and in Kumite Ippon the first three.

Athletes, will be divided into male and female, juniores and seniores will compete together without subdivision of style in Kata and without subdivision of weight in Kumite.

The board will be prepared at place on the basis of the present athletes and entitled as said below, it is not necessary to send in advance the registration.

The participation in this competition is free.

Writing a presentation about Carlo Henke without falling into rhetoric is very difficult. We do not want to make the story of a man who, in the martial arts, made history.

His father Bruno was a major in the German army during the First World War and his mother Margherita had Polish origins. Raised in the determination of an iron education, a comfortable life but certainly not inclined to idleness.

One day he told that he would like to do the military academy. Perhaps it was not properly indicated to a man, who despite having discipline and order as points of reference, possessed a much more liberal spirit than one might have thought.

He devoted himself to various sports, from soccer to boxing, and in 1966, the year of the birth of his son Sean, he began the practice of Karate. The beatings, in those days, didn't seem to be very different from boxing-

In 1969 a serious accident brought him near to death for the first time.

He has always had esteem and gratitude for Master Hiroshi Shirai, born in 1937, his main teacher, who has always treated with adequate deference but without ever suffering particular psychological subjection.

He had a strong charisma both on the tatami and on the outside and he was able to identify and bring out the qualities of a person.

The federation he had created, Fesik, put it all before him, and those close to him, from Rita Merati, widow Henke, to Demetrio Donati, jokingly called "his third child". He was generous with those who showed commitment and fidelity but strict with those who entered the federation to enforce their own interests only-

Karate and politics absorbed him almost completely and in his spare time he was devoted to reading. His speeches were never long and long-winded but always immediate and direct. And perhaps it was this way of presenting oneself simple and sincere that allowed it to achieve certain results and to be appreciated and esteemed by many people.

Carlo Henke has certainly supported his existence through noble sentiments and extraordinary sensitivity, followed ideals with obstinacy and coherence, created structures with intelligence and imagination, conducted actions with constancy and personality, maintained moderate and cordial behaviour, achieved goals in the absolute respect of people and events.

AWARDS CEREMONY

The first three classified athletes of each category and each competition will be awarded by medal and certificate. All participants will receive a gadget of attendance

The first four Clubs classified in the Kata (with separate rankings for each style), as well as the first four Clubs classified in Kumite (with separate rankings between Shobu Nihon, Shobu Sanbon and Shobu Ippon) will be awarded with prestigious trophies. Furthermore, at the end of all the competitions will be awarded the first three Clubs in absolute (which will take into account the scores of both kata and kumite in the various specialties). Extensive report of the competition in the Samurai magazine.

A GREAT reportage of the competition on our magazine Samurai.
